

Dear Colleagues,

This month marks the beginning of the awards submission process. Applications are being finalised and will be uploaded by the Institution Contact Officer (ICO) in each university. I would like to extend my best wishes to all nominees who have worked so diligently to get to this stage. I am also pleased to hear that close to 240 academics have expressed interest in the role of assessor. The final number allocated to the role will be dependent on the number of submissions we have, but thank you all for taking the time to nominate.

We have taken into consideration the ongoing impact of COVID and have extended the submission closing date to Friday 23 September (from 16 September). We encourage you to take advantage of this extra time to refine your submission before the closing date.

We have also finalised the 2022 Awards Committee. The committee members are introduced below. They will lead the process of reviewing and recommending award winners in each of their categories. I thank them for their collegiality in taking on this very rewarding role in the AAUT process.

All state-based ceremonies are completed and I extend my thanks to the five hosting institutions. It was lovely to return to face-to-face presentations. Recording/photo links to these events are provided below.

Finally, I am excited to share that two AAUT recipients will be participating as key note speakers in the RMIT Learning & Teaching Festival. We will be welcoming Associate Professor Jack Wang (UQ, 2020 Australian University

I look forward to receiving your 2022 submissions.

Regards,
Angela

AAUT UPDATE

their nominees' submissions and photos.

The closing date is now extended to Friday 23 September.

We encourage you to upload the submissions and photos as early as possible.

Assessor Recruitment Update

Thank you to the approximately 240 individuals from 40 institutions who have registered their interest in becoming an AAUT assessor this year. The allocation of assessors will be reliant on the number of nominations we received. The Awards Team will get in touch with you at the end of September.

2022 AAUT Awards Committees

We warmly welcome all the 2022 Awards Committee members outlined below. The Awards Committees are made up of senior academic leaders in teaching and learning with a track record of leadership and extensive experience across the Australian higher education sector. They will be responsible for confirming and recommending the nomination ratings before sign-off by UA.
